

Beware Mr. Officer, Tread Carefully!

Chapter 46 To 50

Chapter 46: Arrogant as Always

Tang Jinyu stared at him coldly. “Feng Yi, have I been too easy on you lately?”

“I’m sorry, boss!” Feng Yi laughed sheepishly.

Tang Jinyu was about to reply further before he paused, seeing something in the footage.

Jian Qi checked around the room before she saw a box hidden in a corner that wasn’t covered properly.

Jian Qi opened the lid and found the fake guns and bullets used as props in the drama.

Jian Qi checked inside the box, before her gaze locked onto one of the guns in the box. It was an M21 sniper rifle, and it shouldn’t have appeared in this place.

It was a drama set in the Republic Era of China, so wasn’t this rifle too advanced?

Jian Qi checked it carefully and quirked an eyebrow in interest.

It was a real gun!

Holding the rifle with one hand, she looked deeper into the box to find bullets hidden beneath the prop guns.

She took one and scrutinized it. From its weight to the exterior appearance, everything proved it was a real bullet.

How interesting!

She took the bullet and loaded it into the rifle, before looking around the room once more.

Her gaze fell on a tiny hole on the ceiling.

“Did she notice us?!” Feng Yi stared in shock at the girl that seemed to have noticed their presence.

After that, she took the sniper rifle and aimed it towards the position of the camera.

It effectively replied Feng Yi’s question.

Feng Yi was dumbfounded.

“Boss, why does she give me an eerie feeling?”

Tang Jinyu only stared at the girl that was aiming at them with the sniper rifle.

This keen sense of observation...

Jian Qi...

This continued for another minute, so it wasn’t a fluke.

Also, this movement had a strong intent attached to it.

Jian Qi kept the sniper rifle away and pointed towards the camera like she was shooting a gun before she blew at the tip of her finger.

“Boss, we’ve been taunted.” Feng Yi grit his teeth.

Tang Jinyu only stared emotionlessly at the arrogant girl.

“Boss, don’t you think she’s noticed something?” Feng Yi asked.

Tang Jinyu scoffed. “What do you think?”

Looking at the person in the footage, Tang Jinyu smirked as a cold glint flashed in his eyes.

It seemed like he needed to talk with someone.

Jian Qi unloaded the sniper rifle and threw it back into the box before walking to the window and climbing back to her room quickly.

As the surveillance footage returned to normal, Feng Yi rubbed his chin in thought and tutted. "Boss, I'm becoming more interested in her."

Tang Jinyu didn't reply, standing up to leave.

"Keep an eye on it."

"Boss, where are you going?" Feng Yi asked in confusion.

Tang Jinyu had already left.

Feng Yi pouted. Was he going to rest?

But wasn't he the one who said to keep a lookout for the whole night?

Jian Qi came back to the room and opened the packs of snacks before lying down on the bed and switching on the television.

She continued to stuff snacks into her mouth as she looked at her phone, letting the television play in the background.

Suddenly, she paused and turned her head to stare at the man standing at the window.

Her malice was kept away immediately.

"Oho, what are you doing in someone else's room in the dead of night? Aren't you afraid of getting beat up for being a pervert?" Jian Qi put away her phone and smiled teasingly.

Chapter 47: Not Going to Molest Me? How Dissapointing.

Tang Jinyu looked at the scene laid in front of him and his good-looking eyebrows furrowed noticeably.

There were several bags of junk food on the bed, and a certain someone was lying on it in a nightgown, the short skirt leaving little room for imagination.

Tang Jinyu promptly moved over and covered her with a blanket.

Jian Qi laughed and kicked the blanket away. In doing so, her nightgown rode up her legs a little, making her seem more alluring.

Tang Jinyu scowled and commanded, "Get up and sit properly!"

Jian Qi laughed again and sat up lazily, reaching for a bag of potato chips and opening it as she did. "Are you even a man? I'm right here and you aren't doing anything!"

Tang Jinyu scoffed. "You can try and see whether I'm a man!"

Jian Qi paused before smiling and biting the potato chip in her mouth with a loud crunch.

Before Tang Jinyu could react to the rare pause on Jian Qi's part, she daintily laid down the bag of potato chips and hooked her fingers on the hem of her nightgown, seemingly about to pull it off at the next moment.

Noticing this, Tang Jinyu quickly pulled the blanket over Jian Qi again and tied her into something resembling a mummy, leaving only her head out as he tied a knot to secure her in place.

Jian Qi raised an eyebrow and tried to wriggle out of her bonds before giving up after two seconds.

Not really minding her current predicament, Jian Qi tilted her head and teased him. "Weren't you the one who said I could try? What's the deal with this?"

Tang Jinyu only ignored her and went to the nearest sofa, sitting down comfortably and fixing her with a neutral stare. "Let's talk."

"Are you changing the subject?"

Tang Jinyu grabbed a bag of junk food and threw it in Jian Qi's direction.

Jian Qi rolled her body to dodge it, but before she could flaunt it she was hit by another bag of junk food in her face.

Seeing her resentful expression, Tang Jinyu huffed. "Wanna talk now?"

Jian Qi rolled her eyes. "Fine, fine, just get on with it, young man!"

Hearing her words, Tang Jinyu threw another bag of chips at Jian Qi, making her fall onto the bed from her sitting position.

Jian Qi wriggled around and found a comfortable position before looking back at Tang Jinyu lazily.

Tang Jinyu spoke first. "So you knew?"

"About what?" Jian Qi blinked innocently.

Tang Jinyu was completely sure that she was feigning innocence and threw another bag of junk food in her direction. "Enough with that!"

Jian Qi's gaze locked in on a nearby bag of chips and managed to wriggle an arm out of her bond.

Using her free hand and her mouth to open the bag, Jian Qi lay back into her former position and continued to munch on it calmly.

Tang Jinyu rubbed his forehead, feeling a headache coming on again.

"Tell me what you saw," Tang Jinyu requested.

Swallowing the chip in her mouth, Jian Qi smiled. "Didn't you see everything from the surveillance footage?"

"So it seems you know everything, huh."

Jian Qi smacked her lips in dissatisfaction. "So if you already know everything, and you aren't going to molest me, then what's the point of you coming up here?"

Staring at the man before her, she continued. "Not going to molest me? How disappointing."

"Why were you there?" Tang Jinyu ignored her pointless banter and asked.

"I saw someone being suspicious when I came back from buying snacks, so I followed him in curiosity."

Tang Jinyu just stared at this mysterious woman in front of him.

Even though she seemed to be telling the truth, still, she always seemed to be hiding something up her sleeve.

“The way you held that gun was very professional...” Tang Jinyu noted, probing her for the truth.

Chapter 48: Aren't You Going To Untie Me?

“Thank you for the compliment!” Jian Qi giggled like an airheaded girl who didn't know what Tang Jinyu was asking.

“Have you learned it before?”

“Weren't we coached on it on set?” Jian Qi replied matter-of-factly.

And so, a whole bag of junk food was completely consumed.

She rolled around and took another bag, opening it and munching on it like a hamster.

Tang Jinyu furrowed his brows in disdain. “Aren't you actresses supposed to take care of your figure and your food intake? Aren't you worried about becoming fat?”

“I'm still growing!”

“Aren't you afraid that you would become a piece of junk after eating so much junk food?”

Jian Qi was taken aback.

That was a direct jab!

Jian Qi suddenly started to tear up, staring at Tang Jinyu pitifully. “I've been in the entertainment industry ever since I was but a wee child, and most of my meals were either buns or lunch boxes because no one ever had made me food. Because of that, I've always hidden by myself and eaten junk food while no one was looking... You wouldn't be able to understand! Just from looking at you, you're one of those rich boys who has never gone hungry a day in your life, unlike us poor children who rejoice at having junk food to eat.”

Tang Jinyu only stared emotionlessly at her over the top acting. “Who taught you how to climb?”

“I learned it by myself when I went mountain climbing with my classmates.”

She replied honestly, and Tang Jinyu knew that if he pointed out any inconsistencies in her statement, she would be able to refute them quickly.

“No one will know about what happened tonight. Don’t get into any more trouble tomorrow at the shoot!” Tang Jinyu warned seriously.

“You guys are going to get into action tomorrow?” Jian Qi asked excitedly.

Tang Jinyu frowned. “If anything happens to you, don’t blame me for not reminding you!”

“So what you’re saying is that you snuck into my room in the dead of night like this just to warn me?” Jian Qi asked teasingly. “If you liked me, you could have just said so. Why do you have to be so roundabout and cold about it?”

Looking at this narcissistic girl, Tang Jinyu held down his urge to smack her in the face and smiled coldly. “Don’t say I didn’t warn you!”

After he said so, he turned around and went towards the window.

Jian Qi could only watch as she was about to leave through the window. “Aren’t you going to untie me?”

“It seems that you can eat just fine like that, so no!”

Tang Jinyu’s silhouette disappeared through the window, and the curtains were left flapping in the night wind.

Jian Qi looked at her current state and was too lazy to move anymore, so she found another comfortable position to lie down again.

He wants her to be good?

That was her call to make!

Because her scenes were all scheduled together, she started her shoot as soon as she arrived on set.

This continued until one in the afternoon.

Holding her boxed lunch carefully, she went over to Tang Jinyu.

Seeing a certain someone make her way over, his first reaction was to turn around and leave.

“Little Tang Tang...”

Chapter 49: Feeling Wahaha!

Tang Jinyu didn't even try to make a break for it. After all, this woman had multiple ways to attract everyone's attention.

Jian Qi smiled and leaned closer to him. “Why aren't you running?”

“What do you want?” Tang Jinyu grumbled.

“Look at my boxed lunch! I told you this was all I ate!” Jian Qi looked at him with a sad expression.

“Are you done? If you are, then leave!” Tang Jinyu said in an ordering tone, trying to lay pressure on her.

Jian Qi daintily finished her boxed lunch and smiled. “Little Tang Tang, when are you guys preparing to...”

“Shut up.”

“If you want me to shut up, buy me a drink. I'm thirsty!”

Tang Jinyu inhaled deeply to keep his temper down and asked, “What do you want to drink?”

Jian Qi quirked an eyebrow, having not expected him to comply with her wishes.

“Wahaha Yogurt...” Jian Qi smiled. “I'm feeling especially happy because my Little Tang Tang is going to buy me a drink!”

Tang Jinyu squinted and nodded. “I'll send it to you in five minutes!”

Without giving her any chance to give him any more requests, he turned around and left.

Today was the day of the mission, so the communication channel was open the entire day.

“A bottle of Wahaha Yogurt for Jian Qi,” Tang Jinyu ordered his subordinate through his earpiece.

Jian Qi returned to her seat, and Coco couldn't help asking her upon seeing the smile on her face, “What did you and Mr. Assistant do this time?”

Jian Qi only hummed and didn't answer his question.

Coco could only sigh softly. Teenage girls were truly hard to educate!

Did she have to be so ecstatic over a mere conversation?

In five minutes, a bottle of Wahaha Yogurt was delivered to Jian Qi.

“Did you buy it?” Coco frowned.

Coco smiled and looked at Tang Jinyu.

So it seemed that they were about to take action today!

After all, it wouldn't have been quite possible for it to be delivered to her in a mere five minutes otherwise!

Taking over her script, she checked on the scenes that were scheduled to be shot today.

The last scene the crew had to shoot was a scene where firearms were smuggled away.

“Coco, can you help inform the director that I won't be able to shoot the scene for tonight?”

“What's wrong?”

“I didn't have enough rest last night, so I thought it would be better to turn in early today.”

Coco was understanding about it. After all, she had acted all day for the past few days. It was true that she needed rest.

Jian Qi left for the hotel as soon as she finished her scenes for the day at six in the evening.

Coco left her room, and Jian Qi locked the door after dispatching the assistant.

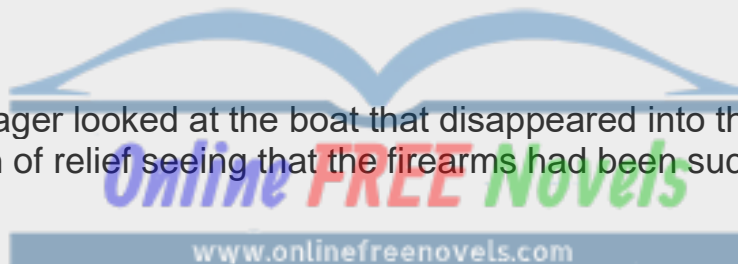

It was eight at night and the scene was being shot at a harbor.

After everything was ready, the boxes carrying the firearms were carried on a boat.

According to the way the scene played out, the characters would have a gunfight and the boat holding the firearms would leave the dock. Because the director had a penchant for realism, the boat went farther and farther away from the dock.

“Cut! Pass!”

Qiao Bo’s manager looked at the boat that disappeared into the night and breathed a sigh of relief seeing that the firearms had been successfully sent off.

But he still had to make sure that the goods were sent safely to the client.

“Xiao Tang, come here.” He waved Tang Jinyu over.

Tang Jinyu came over and bowed respectfully. “What is it, Mr. Chow?”

“Send Acting Emperor Qiao back to the hotel for me. I have some matters to attend to.” After saying so, he walked over to Qiao Bo to tell him about it.

Tang Jinyu stood at his original position as he spoke in a low tone, “How is it going on your end?”

“Everything’s normal, boss...the target has arrived!”

Tang Jinyu didn’t continue to reply and after making sure that the manager had left, he excused himself with Qiao Bo. “Mr. Qiao, I have something I need to attend to, so I have to leave...”

Chapter 50: The Net Closes

“Give me the key, I can drive myself back.” Qiao Bo smiled gently, not questioning what it was that Tang Jinyu had to do.

Tang Jinyu quirked an eyebrow curiously. Did this man know something?

Seeing Tang Jinyu’s questioning gaze, Qiao Bo quirked the edge of his lips and replied, “I saw a picture of you two in her wallet a long time ago.”

It was obvious to Tang Jinyu who ‘she’ was!

“It has just occurred to me in the past few days. It seems that I have to look for a new assistant after tonight, yeah?” Qiao Bo asked with a smile.

Tang Jinyu only gave him a knowing look before handing him the keys and leaving.

As the manager was about to drive away, Tang Jinyu opened the door and entered the car.

“What’s wrong? Is there something you need?” The manager looked at him, visibly displeased by being interrupted. “If there is, then tell me tomorrow. I’m in a rush right now, if you haven’t noticed!”

“Then drive, Mr. Chow. I’ll go with you,” said Tang Jinyu in an unquestionable tone.

“Get off! I have no time to play games with you!”

Tang Jinyu smirked. “That goes for both of us!”

At the same time, the gun in his hand was pressed against the manager’s temple.

The manager paled visibly and asked, “W-Who are you?”

“That’s not important. Drive!” Tang Jinyu commanded, his aura becoming more pressing as he did.

The manager didn't move to drive but instead tried to reach for the door and escape. This futile movement was rewarded by the gun being pressed harder against his head.

"Don't say I didn't warn you! Either you drive now or I'll blow your head off!" Tang Jinyu continued to pressure the manager, his tone and aura leaving no room for question.

The manager finally knew what was going on and tried to put on a show of bravado. "You wouldn't! You're part of the military!"

Tang Jinyu smirked and tilted his head, neither affirming nor denying his statement. "I have orders to kill any criminals that put up resistance. Why don't you try and see if I have the guts to do it?"

Tang Jinyu's words broke the manager's bravery immediately, and so, he set out for the transaction point without having any choice.

In a few minutes, they arrived at the transaction point.

Before the manager could slip away, Tang Jinyu knocked him out and ordered his subordinate through his earpiece, "It's at this site. Everyone be on alert! We will move out as soon as the transaction starts!"

www.onlinefreenovels.com

Tang Jinyu quickly stripped the manager of his clothing and disguised himself as the manager.

He put on a mask and a hat so that his face wouldn't be seen in the dim lighting.

Tang Jinyu made his way over, and the guards, assuming that he was the manager, allowed him through without much hassle.

And so, Tang Jinyu successfully boarded the boat.

His subordinates hid in the darkness, waiting for the right moment to strike.

The boat was quite well-lit, so Tang Jinyu had a good view of everyone that had arrived.

"Who are you?" One of the people there noticed that Tang Jinyu wasn't who he had disguised himself as.

This question made everyone look towards Tang Jinyu.

“Now!” Tang Jinyu commanded his subordinates while he grabbed a person next to him and threw the unsuspecting victim towards the group of people.

As the sound of gunshots rang out, the people who were hiding in the sea surfaced and jumped onto the boat.

Under the cover of their subordinates, the two main culprits escaped to a nearby cargo boat filled with goods.

Tang Jinyu frowned and commanded, “Intercept them!”

As he did, he quickly made his way to a nearby speedboat that had been prepared beforehand and followed after them.

